GETTING FESTIVE FOR FALL

SHOUTOUT TO MENTORS

Congratulations to Laura Francis and Ally Kvachkoff (and Jami Brecht pictured), all of the Sterling office, for creating, decorating and WINNING this year's Scarecrow Contest for the Logan County Chamber of Commerce.

1ST PLACE
CENTENNIAL MENTAL HEALTH CENTER
"FISHING FOR MENTAL HEALTH"
ALLY KVACHKOFF
JAMI BRECHT

There were 27 total scarecrows this year. The motto they chose was "Fishing for Mental Health" and they included positive messages to inspire and help with our community mental health. If you have a chance stop by and check him out on the east side of the Sterling building.

Great Job Ladies, thank you for representing Centennial!

Gina Ashmore, Sterling, successfully held an art therapy group before COVID decided to take most of our services digital. Recently, she decided to try holding the group again as there was much interest.

With the help of Jamie Krueger and Shaylyn Burkholder, Gina will again successfully be able to hold this group that will begin in November.

Gina recently gave a shoutout to these two Mentors with which Edin, (Sterling Journey Program Manager) wanted to also share with our ONECentennial.

"I would just like to give a personal shout out to both Shaylyn and Jamie for the excellent work they do with the clients - I continually hear from both clients and their parents how wonderful these two young ladies are - so thank you, Ladies, for being awesome and for the excellent work you do - I look forward to continuing to do this group with you both!"

Way to go Shaylyn and Jamie, keep up the good work!
